RE: Docket No. 98N-1265

Dear People,

I have been taking estrogen for several years following a hysterectomy. I was well satisfied with a generic brand from the Duramed Pharmaceuticals in Cincinnati. When that brand was taken off the market I began a search through all the available alternatives. They all caused undesirable side effects, the worst being Premarin. I was therefore quite relieved when I discovered a pharmacy in Wisconsin which compounded an estrogen that I could tolerate. I found this product by reading Dr. Christianne Northrup's book, Womens Bodies, Womens Wisdom.

I am so serious about this issue that I would consider leaving this country if my right to choose, together with my doctor, the right medication for me, was taken away.

Yours truly,

98N-1265
